
FAITH KNIGHT

My Journey

My passion for writing runs deep: my father wrote poetry and short stories; my cousin, Virginia Hamilton, was a Newberry Award winning children's author. I became a print reporter then a TV journalist then a Web producer (before anyone knew what that was) and now I am a project manager for online content. My focus going forward will be writing for children.

I've self-published and self-promoted all three of my books and used my news connections to get exposure for them (see Appearances).

I've also written freelance articles for my former employer, Discovery Health. Several of them can be found on the howstuffworks.com website in the Love & Relationship section. I am a member of the Atlanta Writers Club, the Georgia Writers Association, and SCBWI. My books can be found at amazon.com, barnesandnoble.com, faithknight.net.

BOOKS

Reader Reviews

Praise for Real Book on How to Cook:

"It is an easy read and Ms. Knight is very thorough in covering all areas that prep you to begin a adventure in cooking."

Praise for Projects Are People Too:

"Faith Knight's new book, Projects are People Too should be required reading in not only the business world, but also in any professional setting."

APPEARANCES

TOM JOYNER MORNING SHOW
FRANK SKI & WANDA SHOW
NBC4 NOON NEWS
GOOD DAY ATLANTA

MENTORS

RM JOHNSON
DONNA HILL

SOCIAL MEDIA

@KNIGHTAUTHOR
FACEBOOK/KNIGHTAUTHOR

RECOGNITION

2013 AFRICAN AMERICAN
LITERARY AWARD
'BEST COOKBOOK'
